

It's often been said that when they made the Phillie Phanatic, they broke the mold. The Phillies, Greater Philadelphia Tourism Marketing Corporation (GPTMC), and the local art community are putting that theory to the test.

Phanatic Around Town is a public art project which combines the talent of local artists with one of Philadelphia's favorite icons - The Phillie Phanatic.

The Phanatic has been immortalized with twenty, six-foot, fiberglass statues, painted by local artists and displayed throughout the City of Philadelphia through August. The painted statues will later be auctioned off with net proceeds being directed to Phillies Charities, Inc.

With Phanatics all over the city, it's just another fun, family-friendly way to tour Philadelphia this summer. Post your photos with your favorite Phanatic on facebook.com/visitphilly.
